

This is Fran, Jenise, and Shay next Cameroon after receiving a Soloy conversion. They have been asked to think about serving in Cameroon or Brazil. The conversion will allow this aircraft to serve where jet fuel is readily available but where there is no aviation gas in the entire country.

January 21, 2010

“Shay, you can’t tell anyone but your Daddy passed his technical evaluation.” That is what I whispered to 18 month old Shay as I pushed his stroller around the JAARS campus while his dad and mom were in the TE debrief. Dennis and I share in the Burgess’ joy. We have known them since they began their training at Moody. We have tried to share our passion for Bible translation while recruiting at Moody. Now that they have passed the TE they are continuing the Wycliffe application process. Thank you for your investment in the Burgess family through your ongoing part in our lives. It is because of your faithful prayers and giving that we are able to pass the vision and torch on to folks like Fran and Jenise. Join us in praising God for this family.

Cross cultural training begins tomorrow. There are 21 adults and 18 children. I will be teaching a class on child safety and having a part in a class on MK issues for the parents. Also, I will be doing five classes on cross cultural training for the children along with overseeing homeschooling for two families and Tuesday afternoons craft club and childcare. There were times these past two weeks that I wondered how this would be possible but GOD is faithful.

Praising God for you,

Dennis and Patti